FAN Update Southern Appalachians

Picture: El Paso Corporation used the RGS Trail Mix in combination with other seed mixes to reclaim thousands of feet of pipeline right-of-way in northern GA. The result appeared positive for both soil stabilization and wildlife food.

Wildlife Conservation Officer Killed While Apprehending Poacher

Thirty-one year-old Pennsylvania Wildlife Conservation Officer David Grove was shot and killed last week near Gettysburg while arresting a poacher for killing a deer at night. Grove had already attached one handcuff to the poacher's wrist when the suspect pulled a handgun and turned on him, hitting him with 4 shots. The poacher had been convicted of a felony in the past. It was the first time in 95 years a PA Conservation Officer had been killed in the line of duty.

The Society extends its sincere condolences to Officer Grove's family, friends and colleagues.

Grouse and Woodcock Webinar - Tuesday, December 14th, Noon and 7 p.m.

Penn State Natural Resources Extension will facilitate a webinar on Grouse and Woodcock Ecology and Management at noon and 7 p.m. on Tuesday, December 14, 2010. The on-line seminar will be presented by RGS Biologist Mark Banker and hosted by Dr. Sandy Smith, Penn State Forestry Extension professor.

To access the webinar, go to <http://rnrext.cas.psu.edu/PAForestWeb/upcomingseminars.html>. There will be a list of upcoming seminars. Click on the time slot you want to view, and then you will have to register as a guest. This will only take a minute. You will then have access to the webinar. You may also be interested in other webinars coming up.

The webinar includes the ability to ask questions via text. We look forward to seeing you on-line on December 14.

Attention Georgia Grouse Hunters

The last couple of updates I have encouraged hunters to get involved with hunter surveys in the states they hunt in and we listed some websites to visit. Here is another sent to us by the GA DNR:

Upland Bird Hunt Another Success

About 60 hunters went afield in the vicinity of St. Mary's, PA in pursuit of grouse and woodcock November 4-5 at the second annual Upland Bird Hunt. A rough count of flushes reported by the huntsmen suggested more than 620 grouse flushes over two days, very similar to last year. Hunters harvested 40 grouse, a few less than last year. Only 12 woodcock were seen and two harvested. Only 2 woodcock were seen last year.

Other hi-lites of the event included several staunch points on bears, elk sightings, and the harvest of a grouse locally (although not as part of the Hunt) that looked like it had been lightly sprayed with white paint over its entire body, particularly the wings and tail. Nobody present had ever seen anything like it. Several dogs were caught in coyote traps, which continue to be a problem. No dogs were hurt by traps or humans hurt by unhappy dogs.

Bio Bases Covered

When Larry Visser begins work in Michigan, Ohio and Indiana in the New Year, RGS will have all of its biologist positions filled for the first time in many years. Those biologists include, in order of tenure, Dan Dessecker, Mark Banker, Gary Zimmer, Andy Weik, Ted Dick, and Larry Visser.
